Keeping Up with the Blue Bus

This month, the Blue Bus is participating in several important and exciting events and initiatives. Take a look at what we have going on in the next couple of weeks:

Youth on Transportation Safety Month

Throughout the month of May, the Blue Bus is partnering with the nonprofit group Truckers Against Trafficking to share age-appropriate resources about trafficking for youth and caregivers. We'll be posting information and resources each week on our social media channels to raise awareness in our communities.

This initiative focuses on empowering the people in our lives to take care of themselves and take action. Learn more at tatnonprofit.org/safety-month/

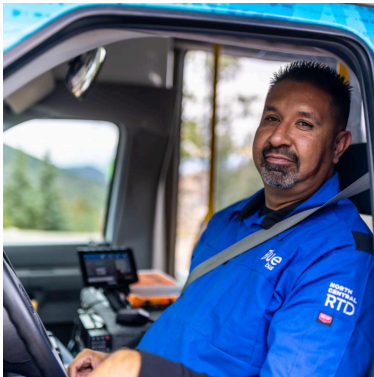

National Transportation Week

On May 11 - 15 the Blue Bus will be joining other transit agencies in celebrating National Transportation Week.

This annual event recognizes the importance of the transportation industry to the U.S. economy, security and daily life and honors the millions of workers who build and operate America's infrastructure, including roads, bridges and transit systems. It serves as a tribute to professionals in trucking, shipping, logistics, transit and maintenance, with over 6.6 million employees working in transportation and warehousing as of 2023.

To celebrate the hardworking individuals who keep the Blue Bus moving, we'll be sharing stories on our social media channels of our team members and how they impact our community every day.

Bike to Work Week

National Bike to Work Week runs from Monday, May 11 to Sunday, May 17. This annual event promotes cycling as a healthy, sustainable commuting alternative.

In collaboration with the New Mexico Department of Transportation, the Blue Bus is attending the Bike to Work Week event on May 15 from 7:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at South Capitol Station to promote alternate forms of transportation to work, school and errands.

Join us on May 15 to learn about our free bus service, our affordable, $1.00 on-demand rideshare service MyBlue, how to bring your bike on the bus and all the places the Blue Bus can take you!
